NEW NOVELS.

THE TOUCHSTONE.

By EDITH WHARTON, author of "The Greater Inclination" (5th edition, 12mo, $1.50). A very unusual and brilliant short novel, in which a singular situation is worked out with that searching accuracy and psychological detail which characterized Mrs. Wharton's short stories. 12mo..In Press

THE GARDEN OF EDEN.

By BLANCHE WILLIS HOWARD, author of "Dionysius the Weaver's Heart's Dearest" (12mo, $1.50). A novel in the author's later and best manner, in which she has treated one of the distinctive questions of modern society with great sympathy and insight. 12mo.....$1.50

ENOCH WILLOUGHBY. A Novel of the Middle West.

By JAMES A. WICKERSHAM. This story of life in the Middle West a generation ago will be certain to attract attention, both as a study of strenuous spiritual life and as a story of human love. 12mo.....$1.50

THE GRIP OF HONOR. A Romance of the Revolution.

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY, author of "For Love of Country" (12mo, $1.25), and "For the Freedom of the Sea" (illustrated, 12mo, $1.50). An absorbing patriotic romance full of dramatic action and picturesque incidents, having for its background the dashing story of Paul Jones's Career. 12mo.....In Press

SMITH COLLEGE STORIES.

By JOSEPHINE DODGE DASKAM. An animated picture of life in a woman's college, with a considerable value in showing what the undergraduate life of many thousands of American young women really is in its varied phases. 12mo.....$1.50

NOTES IN SEASON.

BRENTANO'S announce for immediate publication "the only authorized copyright edition" of Kipling's famous poem "The Absent-Minded Beggar," on which they hold copyright in America for separate publication. This is to be handsomely printed on deckle-edged paper, small quarto.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING CO. have just published a little volume of entertaining talks on men and things by the Hon. Rounsville Wildman, entitled "As Talked in the Sanctum." Mr. Wildman was, some years ago, editor of the Overland Monthly, and these crisp essays are the outgrowth of that editorial connection.

DODD, MEAD & CO. announce for early publication, Albert Stickney's monograph on The Boer War, "The Transvaal Outlook." The work will contain five maps. Count Tolstoi has at last completed the novel on which he has been so long at work. "Resurrection" has finally been chosen as the title of the work in America. It is a terrible arraignment of social evils, sombre and cruel, but as powerful as anything he has done. The work has been fully translated, and Dodd, Mead & Co. will publish the only authorized edition in America, about the 1st of March. They are now settled in their new building at Fifth Avenue and Thirty-fifth Street, a full description of which we reserve for another issue.

FREDERICK A. STOKES CO. have just ready "Gaber," by Kate A. Benton, a tale of the reign of Harun-al-Raschid, Kalif of Baghdad, in the year 786; "The Cambric Mask," an American romance of the present day by Robert W. Chambers, and "The Minx," by Mrs. Mannington Caffyn, a story of English society life of which the heroes are a ruined English aristocrat and a rich English radical, both of whom lose their hearts to "the minx." They have in active preparation "Sandburrs," by Alfred Henry Lewis, author of "Wolfville," another collection of characteristic sketches that have appeared in newspapers during the past two years; "A Master of Craft," by W. W. Jacobs, author of "Many Cargoes;" "Marcelle of the Quarter;" and a new story by Clive Holland, author of "My Japanese Wife."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just published the "Memoirs of Princess Mary, Duchess of Teck." This memoir is based on her diaries and letters, and is filled with reminiscences of Queen Victoria's court during the last fifty years; recollections of most of the crowned heads of Europe and of distinguished diplomatists, artists and litterateurs. The Duchess of Teck was deeply interested in all forms of applied and the higher arts, and led in comprehensive philanthropic undertakings. As the favorite cousin she is able to give a vivid and personal insight into Victoria's beautiful life. These two volumes will form the most valuable Court Memoirs of the last half of this century, and are of considerable pictorial value, being illustrated with numerous portraits in photogravure and other illustrations from the private collections of the Duchess of York, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Teck, the greater number of which have never appeared before. They will publish before long a novel entitled "Enoch Willoughby," by James A. Wickersham. The scene of the story is laid in the Middle West. They will publish next month a story by the late Blanche Willis Howard, (Mme. von Teuffel,) entitled "The Garden of Eden." It is said that one reason why the story was not offered for publication by the author before her death is that the novel contains certain passages which Mme. von Teuffel had written in frankly autobiographical spirit. Competent judges who have read the manuscript affirm that scenes both of American and Continental life are set forth with all the charm of intimacy and sincerity.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Allbutt, T: Clifford, M.D., ed. A system of medicine, by many writers. v. 8. N. Y., Macmillan, 1900. 12+998 p. 8°, cl., subs., net, $5; hf. leath., net, $6.

Contents: Diseases of the nervous system (concluded); Mental diseases; Diseases of the skin.

American digest; a complete digest of all reported American cases from the earliest times to 1896. Century ed. v. 14. St. Paul, West Pub. Co., 1899. c. 8°, shp., subs., $6.

Ames, Fisher. Standard whist for beginners. N. Y., Scribner, 1900. c. 10+150 p. T. cl., 75 c.

Mr. Ames is an authority on whist, and is the author of several books on this subject. The best whist experts are turning from modern innovations, new system and conventionalities, to the simple, natural game. To teach this simple game plainly is the object of Mr. Ames' new work.

Balfour, Andrew. Vengeance is mine; il. by J: H. Betts. N. Y., New Amsterdam Book Co., 1900. 12°, cl., $1.50.

Bangs, J. Kendrick. Coffee and repartee, and The idiot. New ed. N. Y., Harper, 1900. c. '93-'99. 7+221 p. il. 12°, cl., $1.

Barrow, Eliz. N. The fortune of war: being portions of many letters and journals written to and for her cousin, Mistress Dorothea Engel, of Carthmoor Hall, Northumberland, England, by Katharine, Daughter of Major-General James Patison. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1900. c. 2+268 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The daughter of a British General tells the story of her romantic adventures in the American colonies during the last year of the struggle for independence. Love of course plays a part in the romance. The scene is chiefly in New York City.

Baumbach, Rudolf. Sommermärchen; with introd. notes and vocabulary, by E: Meyer. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1900. c. 6+142 p. S. bds., net, 35 c.

Beddard, Frank Evers. A book of whales; il. by W. Sidney Berridge. N. Y., Putnam, 1900. 9+320 p. O. (Progressive science ser., ed. by F. E. Beddard; Amer. ed., J. McK. Cattell.) cl., $2.

Contents: The external form of whales; Some internal structures; A comparison of whales with other aquatic mammals; The position of whales in the system and their classification; The hunting of whales; The right whales; The Rorquals; The toothed whales or odontoceti; Beaked whales; The dolphins; Anomalous dolphins; Zenglodonts and their allies.

Benton, Kate A. Geber: a tale of the reign of Harun al Reschid, Khalif of Baghdad. N. Y., F. A. Stokes Co., [1900.] c. 5+487 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The time is in the year 786 A. D. and of the Hegira 170. Harun is the "Haroun" whose name the "Arabian nights" has made so familiar to us. The plot is the explanation of the fall of the house of Barmek at the hands of Harun and his sacrifice of his friend and favorite, Jaafar, one of the puzzles of history. The love of Rafi for Oleija, the khalif's sister, is a thread of romance that runs through and brightens the darker fabric of the story. A number of original poems embellish the narrative.

Bligh, N. G. Notes on instruments best suited to engineering field-work in India and the colonies. N. Y., Spon & Chamberlain, 1900. 218 p 8°, cl., $3.

Brown, Neal. Critical confessions. Wausau, Wis., Philosopher Press, 1899. c. 245 p. cl., $1.50.

Caffyn, Mrs. Kathleen Mannington, ["Iota," pseud.] The minx: a novel. N. Y., F. A. Stokes Co., [1900.] c. '99. 2+335 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Squire Hallowes marries in his old age a second wife, a lovely, middle-aged woman who has had a motherly love for his boy, Jock from the time of his birth. The story opens shortly after the marriage, with Jock's return home from the university in his twenty-fifth year. The estate is involved, and it is necessary that he should marry well. His love story with its many perplexities is interwoven with the fate of another young pair. A pleasant, healthy story of country life.

Cameron, Mrs. Emily Sharp, [Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron.] The craze of Christina. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1900.] c. '99. 3-241 p. D. (Rose ser., no. 12.) cl., 35 c.

A struggling journalist unexpectedly becomes owner to a fortune, hampered, however, with many conditions. One condition is that he shall not marry within a certain time or he forfeits the larger part of his inheritance to a distant and unknown relative. The result is a story of love and adventure arising from the heir's impatient and restless disposition.

Chambers, Rob. W: The cambric mask: a romance. N. Y., F. A. Stokes Co., [1900.] c. '99. 6+328 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The unexpected rise in value of a neglected piece of land, through a proposed extension of a railroad line, gives the motive for the story. It is coveted by an unscrupulous quartette of men, who call in a party of White Caps to aid them in their schemes. A love story lightens the somewhat sombre narrative.

Cobb, T: The judgment of Helen: [a novel.] N. Y., J: Lane, 1899. 2+320 p. D. cl., $1.50.

An attractive widow of means and good social position succeeds in persuading her pretty young daughter Helen to engage herself to a wealthy, self-made man much her senior, to whom she is indifferent. The widow has rented a handsome house for the autumn at the seaside, and here the half dozen characters are gathered together. Besides the affianced lovers there are a clever, scheming niece of the widow, who admires her cousin's intended, a poor young surgeon in love with Helen ,and a rich baronet in love with the widow. A clever intriguing comedy is played with a satisfactory ending all around. By the author of "Mr. Passingham."

Colorado, Ct. of Appeals, Reports, including Sept. term, 1898, and part of Jan. term, 1899; J: A. Gordon, rep. v. 12. N. Y., Banks Law Pub. Co., 1900. c. 19+642 p. O. shp., net, $5.

Corelli, Marie. Ziska: the problem of a wicked soul. Special limited ed. [New issue.] N. Y., International Book and Pub. Co., 1900. c. '97. 3-315 p. D. (Standard ser. of paper novels, no. 9.) pap., 50 c.

See notice, "Weekly Record," P. W., April 17, 1897, [1316.]. Formerly published by Stone & Kimball.

Cowdery, Jabez F. Supplement to a treatise on the law and practice in justices' courts as construed by the courts of the states of California, Colorado, Nevada, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Utah, and Washington, and the territory of Arizona, in civil and criminal cases [v. 3.]. San Francisco, Bancroft-Whitney Co., 1900. c. '99. 587 p. 8°, shp., $6.

Croker, Mrs. Bertha M. Terence. N. Y., F. M. Buckles & Co., 1900. c. '99. 4-320 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The hero, Terence Desmond, is first seen in Ireland driving a public coach; the heroine, an Australian girl of immense wealth, fond of horses, is rescued by him from a runaway. The story relates to the love these two develop for each other, and the obstacles in their way. Terence's birth, it is proved, is far superior to his occupation, this fact helping to a happy ending.

Davis, Ia. Galvanised iron; its manufacture and uses: a detailed description of this important industry and its manufacturing processes. N. Y., Spon & Chamberlain, 1900. 139 p. 8°, cl., $2.

Demolins, Edmond. Boers or British; or, who are in the right? N. Y., Scribner, [imported,] 1900. 42 p. 12°, cl., 40 c.

Dodge, G: M. The telegraph instructor. Rev. enl. ed. Valparaiso, Ind., Dodge's Institute of Telegraphy, 1900 [1899.] c. '99. 248 p. 16°, cl., $1.

Dudeney, Mrs. H: Folly Corner. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1900. c. 8+332 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Folly Corner was a picturesque old homestead in an English market town. Within its walls and gardens the story has its scene, excepting for a brief shifting to London. Jethro Jayne, the bachelor owner of Folly Corner, advertises, in a joke, for a wife, and finds as he supposes a cousin—a handsome young woman who comes to Folly Corner on a visit. She is a young woman evidently with a past. Her pathetic experience and the study of her character make a book of the same morbid type as "The maternity of Harriott Wicken."

Eliot, George, [pseud.] for Mrs. G: W. Cross.] Silas Marner; ed., with an introd. and notes by R: Jones and J. Rose Colby. N. Y., Appleton, 1900. 12°, (Twentieth century text-books.) cl., 60 c.; bds., 45 c.

Ferrar, N: Story books of little Gidding: religious dialogues recited in the great room, 1631-'32; from the original manuscript of N: Ferrar; with introd. by E. Cruwys Sharpland. N. Y., Dutton, 1900. 4+291 p. il. 12°, cl., $2.

Fletcher, Alice Cunningham. Indian story and song, from North America. Bost., Small, Maynard & Co., 1900. c. 13+126 p. D. cl., $1.50.

This volume was suggested by the singing of a number of Omaha Indians of their native melodies at the Congress of Musicians held at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha in July, 1898. Not only was the scientific value of these aboriginal songs in the study of the development of music demonstrated, but their availability as themes for the American composer was recognized. In response to the expressed desire of many musicians, the writer has given a number of songs in their setting of story.

Flowerdew, Herbert. The realist: a modern romance. N. Y., J: Lane, 1900. 2-345 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The reporter of an almost defunct London literary paper is sent to interview a writer of French realistic novels about whom ghastly stories were told. The paper failed before he could print his interveiw. The novelist offers him a position. The experiences which come to him during his sojourn in the house where the realist studies all his scenes from life make an exciting story in which a beautiful girl "typist" and a Hindoo servant play leading roles.

Furman, Alfred Antoine. In vales of Helikon: poems. N. Y., Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford & Co., 1900. 121 p. 12°, cl., $1.

Herbert, Leila. The first American, his homes and his households. N. Y., Harper, 1900. c. '99. 22+139 p. il. por. O. cl., $2.

Washington is "the first American"; these details of his domestic life illustrated by pictures of the places mentioned in the text have been gathered from many sources; a consecutive narrative is given which besides presenting him in his private capacity, pictures the manners and customs of the times. Miss Herbert, whose early death in 1897 was widely regretted, was the daughter of the ex-Secretary of the Navy.

Omond, T. S. The romantic triumph. N. Y., Scribner, 1900. 13+408 p. D. (Periods of European literature, no. 11.) cl., net. $1.50.

"The scope of this volume differs somewhat from that of its predecessors in the same series. They dealt with remoter times and less familiar authors, so were bound to give much detailed information. In this volume, concerned mainly with writers whose names are household words, it has been thought sufficient to give only such particulars as were required to bring out the general effect. Neither biography nor bibliography have been made prominent. The wish was to paint a general picture, preferring broad outlines to finished studies; to depict a movement by showing it embodied in its representatives." —Preface.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

FEBRUARY 24, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

HARPERS' WITHOUT THE HARPERS.

THE re-organization committee for the Harper corporation has taken the drastic measures now usual in financial circles for re-organizations. It found the old A-1 clipper ship, once the leader of the clipper fleet, half made over into a modern steamer, but with dry rot in the timbers, water-logged with debt, short of coal and provisions, officered by heredity and not by promotion, and close upon the reefs. It had before run short of supplies when Mr. J. P. Morgan had come to its relief, as ship's husband, with the usual lien upon the vessel, and later it flew signals of distress and brought alongside the most pushing tug in the modern fleet—but the hawser parted before the bigger vessel could be towed into port. A valuable part of the cargo had already gone overboard—in the transfer of the educational books to the American Book Company; and it became a question whether the once magnificent ship could pay salvage costs. The committee has planned to put the rudder hard about, to place a new captain in full command, and practically to hand over the ship to him, by way of salvage, if he will bring her safely into port.

In plain English, the committee's plan eliminates the present capital and the present control by providing for the organization of a new corporation, doubtless under the same or a similar name, which shall take over the assets of the old concern and provide both for the secured and the general creditors by the issue of first mortgage and of income bonds. Mr. Morgan, and other secured creditors, accept first mortgage bonds at half the nominal amount of the old bonds, but furnishing exactly the same security. The unsecured creditors are to receive income bond,—that is to say, certificates of indebtedness, on which interest is to be paid if earned, paying such interest at one per cent. for the first two years, two per cent. for three years thereafter, and five per cent. after five years, these income bonds to be redeemable at the pleasure of the corporation. The excess of $170,000 bonds and of any income bonds over general indebtedness is to remain in the treasury for corporation use. Capital stock is to be issued to the amount of $2,000,000, under absolute control of the committee, with the understanding that a large part of this is to go to Colonel Harvey for his services as president for the next five years, the stock being meantime in a voting trust, comprising Mr. Morgan, Alexander E. Orr, and Colonel Harvey. It is stated, although this is not evident in the plan, that a cash capital is thus provided of $175,000 in addition to the $170,000 first mortgage bonds in the treasury, available at need. As foreclosure by the secured creditors might have resulted in leaving nothing for the unsecured creditors, this is possibly the best arrangement that can be made, although the capitalization of the unsecured indebtedness, at par, results in sacrifice of interest for the next five years. This is closely the counterpart of the re-organization plan for the New York Times, under which Mr. Adolph Ochs has built up that property to its present standing.

The plan eliminates altogether the Harper interest from the Harper house, except probably as members of the family, who have shown by natural selection their fitness for the work, may remain in association with the new corporation. The committee has regarded this as inevitable, and the reasons are evident. The cardinal mistakes at Franklin Square have been in not facing financial facts and not keeping methods of administration abreast of the times. The large membership of the several branches of the Harper family not only made a drain upon the financial resources of the business beyond its earning capacity, but prevented the enlistment of new force from outside and the development into full effectiveness of the force within. The house has suffered necessarily from the feeling by the heads of departments that strict subordination, and not coordination, was expected from them and that responsibility was required, without power to remedy existing defects or opportunity of initiative. Moreover older servants of the house, as notably, Mr. Charles Parsons, the veteran art-editor, were not treated with that full appreciation, when the occasion for retirement came, which is always a stimulus to the succeeding generation. Thus the working force was not stimulated to best efficiency, while in some cases it was seriously overloaded with work, as in the case of Mr. Henry M. Alden, who has borne almost alone the whole burden of Harper's Magazine, though acting also as reader and general literary adviser for the house, while its leading competitor had a considerable staff of associate and assistant editors.

The organization of the house, even as a corporation, had not been adapted to keep the business abreast with the times. The journalistic ability inherited by J. Henry Harper from Fletcher Harper, his grandfather, did much to keep the Magazine and the Weekly in their front place, although even here traditional habits were a disadvantage. For years the Magazine denied itself all revenue from advertising, and the artistic development of advertising pages was carried out by the rival magazines instead of for the benefit of that which had led in art development. This conservatism produced sometimes curious results; for years it was said that the Harper establishment and the Department of State were the only institutions in America which did not use the typewriter—but the typewriter had to come. For some years past the house has not undertaken any great literary enterprises, or indeed, except as to those made from magazine material, published any very distinctive books, or pushed vigorously those on its immense list. The old fashions of posters and book covers, adhered to for years, were followed by a violent change to impressionist work, in which the Harper house, instead of "heading the procession," brought up the end of it in almost fantastic extreme. It has been chronically difficult for the firm to see any other point of view than its own, as in the early days of the copyright controversy and in certain other trade relations, and this produced the impression of arrogance in trade dealings which was not in accord with the genial personal character of many members of the famous house. Thus handicapped by a family organization which proved a serious financial drain, and also made difficult a thoroughly modern business administration, the great house with all its resources and the magnificent success in spite of increasing competition, of its leading periodicals, began to find it difficult to make both ends meet. The thoroughly unsound practice of valuing plates as assets at approximately their cost proved as delusive as always.

When the corporation was organized, entirely inadequate provision was made for working capital and outside indebtedness, and this financial mistake was made worse when most of the bond issue of $3,000,000 was pledged for loans, realizing little over $1,000,000. It was astonishing that under these circumstances the house could continue to obtain large credit; but its reputation, especially with country banks, was such that, except in city circles, there was almost as little question about Harper paper as about government obligations. The Morgan loan was extended in the hope that new blood could bring things out right, but the task before the McClure combination was too near an impossible one; and the various plans for saving the old corporation have now ended in confessed failure. It has become more and more evident that the Harper house could be kept in shape as a going concern only by changes of the most thorough kind. It will be a serious blow to many personal and trade friends of the Harper family that the business passes from their control—but the trade will hope that under the reorganization the results will be creditable to the old name.

One lesson of the Harper failure cannot be too much impressed upon the publishing trade. No other business man commits the mistake of valuing a dead horse as though it were a live horse, and deluding himself with keeping on his books a live valuation for dead stock. As a matter of fact the actual cost of typesetting, in making a book, ought to be borne fully by the first edition or editions, leaving as a book asset only the cost of making stereotype or electrotype plates from the type—which is not greatly above the value of the type metal. This is what a merchant in any other calling would do, and we cannot too often reiterate that it is the only safe method for the publishing trade. The same is true as to "plugs" in the retail trade. The conservative bookseller should write off on his account all but the residual value of dead stock. It is better to face unpleasant facts in advance than to wait until they stare you out of countenance—and often out of business existence.

THE HARPER REORGANIZATION.

THE committee appointed to reorganize Harper & Brothers completed its work on the 16th inst., and on the following day copies of the agreement were sent to those interested for execution. The plan provides for the conveyance of the entire property to a new corporation, to be organized under the laws of the State of New York, which will be empowered to issue the following securities:

$1,500,000 first mortgage bonds.
$2,000,000 income bonds with voting power.
$2,000,000 capital stock.

These securities are to be disposed of as follows:

First mortgage bonds		$1,500,000
To J. P. Morgan & Co., as security for loan of $850,000	$1,250,000
To other secured creditors	80,000
To be held in the treasury	170,000
		$1,500,000
Income bonds (bearing 1 per cent. interest for two years, 2 per cent. interest for three years and 5 per cent. thereafter)		$2,000,000
To be delivered to general creditors at par, the excess, if any, above the amount required, to remain in the treasury.
Capital stock		$2,000,000
To be issued to present stockholders, or as may be determined by the committee and in consideration of contract with George B. M. Harvey for his services as president of the company for five years.

All amounts due authors and all royalties are to be paid in full as they become due. J. P. Morgan & Co. and the other secured creditors extend the period of their loan for five years, the company reserving the right to pay all or any part thereof at any time. Upon the payment in full of the secured indebtedness, the holders of the income bonds shall have the right to exchange their bonds for new four per cent. first mortgage bonds. The stock is to be placed in a voting trust for five years, the voting trustees to be J. P. Morgan, Alexander E. Orr and George B. M. Harvey.

The report of the committee is signed by Alexander E. Orr, chairman; William A. Nash, Stephen Baker, William M. Laffan and Augustine J. Smith. More than 90 per cent. of the claims having been already deposited with the committee, the success of the plan seems to be assured.

"This plan," according to Colonel Harvey, "reëstablishes the house of Harper & Brothers upon a financial basis which is absolutely impregnable. It reduces the bonded indebtedness from $3,000,000 to $1,500,000 and the annual fixed interest charges from nearly $200,000 to $55,800. It leaves the reorganized company wholly free from floating indebtedness, and provides a working capital in cash of $175,000, which is supplemented by $170,000 of first mortgage bonds held in the treasury and available for the same purpose. The only concessions made are by the secured creditors, who permit the payment of interest upon the unsecured claims represented by income bonds, instead of insisting, as they might do, upon the application of all net earnings to the liquidation of the indebtedness which they hold.

"If Mr. Morgan had seen fit to take the full advantage of his position, he could not only have obtained payment of his obligation in full, but could have acquired property which, after a few years of good management, would be worth at least $1,000,000 in addition. Instead of doing so, he made every concession asked of him in the interest of all concerned. Each member of the committee has given much time and thought to the endeavor to effect an equitable adjustment, but Mr. Orr especially, despite the demands upon his time as chairman of the Rapid Transit Commission, has devoted an exceptional amount of painstaking energy to the solution of the difficult problem which confronted the committee.

"The result is the adoption of a plan which is equitable in every respect, and which, in my judgment, will assure the ultimate payment of every dollar of indebtedness in full. The business of the house has increased daily, despite the necessary publicity of its financial embarrassment, the expenses have been reduced to a point consistent with progress and economy, and there is every reason to believe that the reëstablished house will immediately enter upon a fresh career of prosperity as great, if not greater, than ever before in its long and honorable history."

The new organization appears to be solely in the interests of the creditors, no provision seems to have been made by which the members of the old Harper family are to have a share in the future management of the concern.

THE OUTING PUBLISHING CO.

CASPAR WHITNEY, who in December last announced his withdrawal from Harper's Weekly and his intention to form a publishing company devoted to the literature of sport, travel and adventure, now announces that, in conjunction with ten others, he has bought Outing and will forthwith become its editor. The "ten others" are Fletcher Harper, great-grandson of one of the three original founders of Harper & Brothers; Robert Bacon, one of the Corinthian yachtsmen that sailed Columbia against Shamrock; David M. Goodrich, captain Harvard '98 Crew; S. R. Bertron and Walter Camp, both old Yale athletes; C. C. Cuyler, the well-known Princeton ex-athlete; S. F. Houston, the prominent University of Pennsylvania alumnus; T. D. M. Cardeza, who lives in Philadelphia when not seeking new fields for exploration and big game; and Charles Hodgman, an all-round sportsman of St. Louis devoted especially to polo and hunting.

These names suggest the strength of the corporation and the character of the magazine likely to result. Apart from writers best qualified in the field of sport, pure and simple, Outing also includes among its prospective contributors, Rudyard Kipling, Ernest Seton-Thompson, Governor-General Leonard Wood, Frederic Remington, John Fox, Jr., Governor Theodore Roosevelt, C. Grant La Farge, Paul Du Chaillu, Richard Harding Davis, Paul Leicester Ford, Gilbert Parker, W. A. Fraser, F. C. Selous, Henry Savage Landor, Owen Wister, Chas. F. Lummis, Jesse Lynch Williams; and among its artists, A. B. Frost, Howard Pyle and Walter Appleton Clark, in addition to Mr. Remington. Every department of sport will be treated by experienced and able writers; and the field of travel and adventure by men best fitted to entertain and instruct.

In short, it is the intention of the new corporation to develop Outing to the utmost magazine limits of its special field, which they will further cover by the publication of books, timely and interesting, and later by a weekly journal of current comment.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

ASSOCIATED PRESS MUST SELL ITS NEWS.

In the appeal of the Chicago Inter-Ocean Publishing Company against the Associated Press the Supreme Court at Chicago rendered an opinion on the 19th inst., remanding the case to the Circuit Court, with directions to enter a decree to restrain the Associated Press from suspending or expelling the petitioner from its membership and from refusing to furnish it news according to its contract. The opinion, written by Justice Phillips, says:

"The corporation has devoted its property to a public use, and has, in effect, granted to the public such an interest in its use that it must submit to be controlled by the public for the common good to the extent of the interest it has thus created in the public in its private property. All newspaper publishers desiring to purchase such news for publication are entitled to purchase the same, without discrimination against them.

"The clause of the contract which sought to restrict the appellant from obtaining news from other sources than from appellee is an attempt at restriction upon the trade and business among the citizens of a common country."

The court finds that the by-law of the appellee corporation which seeks to prevent its members from publishing its special or other news or receiving news from any person declared by it hostile, is not required for corporate purposes nor included within the purposes of the creation of the corporation.

To enforce this by-law and contracts made under it, the court says, would "enable the appellee to designate the character of news to be published, and, whether true or false, there could be no check on it by publishing news from other sources."

RULING IN RE DEPOSITS OF COPIES OF NEW EDITIONS AT THE COPYRIGHT OFFICE.

An opinion was filed by Judge Elmer B. Adams, of the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Missouri at St. Louis, Mo., on the 17th inst., in the case of Leverett S. Tuckerman and others, trustees, against The Central Law Journal and others, which is said to be the first judicial decision in this country on the question involved. Tuckerman is one of the trustees under the will of the late James Ware Perry, the author of the law book commonly known as "Perry on Trusts," which was originally published in 1872, and since that time has run through a number of subsequent editions.

The Central Law Journal has advertised, published and offered for sale a work commonly known as "Beach on Trusts," which work, it is alleged, is an infringement of the copyright on "Perry on Trusts." A bill was filed against The Central Law Journal and the officers of the company, praying for an injunction restraining the sale of "Beach on Trusts" and also for an accounting.

To this bill a demurrer was interposed on the ground that the complainant has failed to comply with the requirements of the laws relating to copyrights. It was contended by counsel in support of the demurrer that the copyright law required two copies of every subsequent edition of a copyrighted book to be filed with the Librarian of Congress and that, having failed to do this, the complainants were not entitled to the relief prayed.

Counsel for the petitioners insisted that the law required only that two copies of the original issue of a book be filed and that for all subsequent editions containing new and materially different matter, one copy filed with the Librarian of Congress was sufficient compliance with the law.

Judge Adams's opinion sustained this view of the law. The question has long been a subject of doubt among publishers and authors, and no invariable rule has obtained among them. Judge Adams's decision establishes that the law requires two copies of the original edition of a work to be filed with the Librarian of Congress and one copy of every subsequent edition.

The case probably will be appealed and may, before finally determined, go to the Supreme Court of the United States.

OBITUARY NOTES.

A. T. Andreas, who in the sixties published a number of excellent county atlases and maps, died on the 16th inst., at New Rochelle, N. Y. He was born in Orange County, N. Y., in 1838.

Paul Calmann-Levy, the well-known French publisher, died on the 3d inst., aged forty-six. He was the senior member of the firm, which was established in 1836 by his uncle, Michel Lévy, and had long enjoyed the position of prince of the publishing world in France. Among the well-known publications of the firm may be mentioned the Revue de Paris, one of the leading French reviews.

Franklin H. Russell, one of the pioneers of the book trade in the West, died at Lansing, Mich., Jan. 26. He was born in New Hampshire in 1820 and went into business in Rochester, N. Y., in 1840. In 1856 he went to Lansing, Mich., where he secured a position as clerk in A. J. Veile's book store. When Mr. Viele retired from the book business in Lansing, Mr. Russell bought out his former employer's interest and continued the business on an enlarged scale.

Edward A. Lawson, several years superintendent of Siegel, Cooper & Co.'s New York store, died a few weeks ago at Phœnix, Arizona, where he had gone in hopes of gathering fresh strength to fight the disease which nevertheless carried him off. He was buried on the 15th inst. at Ravenswood, Ill. Mr. Lawson was born in 1863, and when a boy was employed by C. M. Barnes, the Chicago bookseller. Later he took charge of the book and stationery department of Siegel, Cooper & Co., which position he held for a number of years. When his firm opened their New York branch they selected Mr. Lawson as their superintendent. After two years Mr. Lawson was obliged to resign, owing to failing health.

FRED MATHER, the well-known pisciculturist, died on the 16th inst., at Lake Nebagomain, Wis. Mather was born in Greenbush, N. Y., August 2, 1833. In 1857 he went to Wisconsin, where he followed the life of a hunter and trapper. He served as a volunteer in the Federal army from 1862 until 1865. When the United States Fish Commission was formed in 1872 Mather, who had a fish hatchery at Honeoye Falls, N. Y., was sent for to hatch shad for the Potomac River, and was made an assistant to the Commission. Mather was many times sent abroad by the United States Government in connection with fish culture. In 1880 he had charge of the American exhibit at the Fisheries Exhibition at Berlin. For the last twenty years he had contributed articles on fish culture to Forest and Stream and other periodicals. In 1883 he was appointed superintendent of the New York Fish Commission station at Cold Spring Harbor, where he began the hatching of lobsters and codfish. He was the author of a number of books on fish culture. Some of them are: "Men I Have Fished With," "Fish Culture," and "Ichthyology of the Adirondacks." In the last-named book he described several fishes which were previously unknown.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

DODD, MEAD & CO. have in press the first part of Andrew Lang's long-expected "History of Scotland."

W. B. SAUNDERS, Philadelphia, has just ready the "American Year-Book of Medicine and Surgery for 1900." The work is this year for the first time published in two volumes, the first volume treating of general medicine, and the second of surgery.

GINN & CO. will publish next month, in their International Modern Language Series, a collection of short stories by Richepin, Loti, and others, of the younger school of modern French writers, entitled, "Contes et Saynètes," edited by T. F. Colin, of Bryn Mawr (Pa.) College.

JOHN LANE has just ready a new novel by Thomas Cobb, entitled "The Judgment of Helen;" "The Realist," a novel, by Herbert Flowerdew; "The Man's Cause," a novel, by Ellen Napier Lefroy; and "Outside the Garden," by Helen Milman, with artistic text illustration by E. H. New.

THE New York Tribune, in its issue for February 19, makes the startling announcement that a Wisconsin man is said to be in possession of a genuine Gutenberg Bible printed on vellum. The book world will be interested to learn on what authority this book has been "unmistakably identified."

D. APPLETON & CO. have in press a new story by Anna Robeson Brown, (Mrs. Charles Henry Burr,) entitled "The Immortal Garland." It is a novel of New York and the country, in which the author sketches phases of literary and dramatic careers. They will publish next month a Manx story by Norma Lorimer, entitled "Mirry Ann."

REGINALD HEBER HOWE, JR., and Edward Sturtevant, of Newport, R. I., have printed, privately, a volume of 100 pages entitled "The Birds of Rhode Island." The authors give a carefully annotated list of 291 species, with a review of previous works on the same subject, a full bibliography, and a chapter on the migration of birds in Rhode Island.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. will issue in March "Knights in Fustian," by Caroline Brown, a story of Indiana during the War for the Union; "The Queen's Garden," by Mrs. M. E. M. Davis, author of "The Wire Cutters," and "Under the Man-Fig;" and a collection of the verse of Edward Rowland Sill, first contributed to the Atlantic Monthly.

D. APPLETON & CO. have just published "A History of the Spanish-American War," by Richard H. Titherington; "Principles of Taxation," by David A. Wells; "The Illustrated Geography," by various recognized authorities; "The Secondary School System of Germany," by Dr. F. E. Bolton; and "A Maker of Nations," by Guy Boothby. "Municipal Government," by Hon. Bird S. Coler, Comptroller of New York City, will also shortly appear. "David Harum" reached its 425th thousand.

series, under the general editorship of Mr. Andrew Lang, which will deal with the romance and history of the great families of the United Kingdom. Each book will be the story of a race that has wrought its name enduringly upon the national escutcheon. Mr. Lang will be responsible for the house of Douglas, and contribute a general preface to the first volume, "The House of Percy," by Mr. Gerald Brenan.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just issued "The First American: his homes and his households," by Leila Herbert, who has gathered with great pains much information specially relating to the private and domestic life of Washington; "Manifest Destiny," a novel of present day society life in New York and London, by Julia Magruder; and two volumes of short stories: "The Nerve of Folly and other Railroad Stories," by Frank H. Spearman; and "The Love of Parson Lord and Other Stories," by Mary E. Wilkins.

THE W. A. WILDE CO., of Boston, will publish at once a volume entitled "The Treasury Club," by William Drysdale, which will inaugurate the United States Government Series. They have in preparation "The Prairie Schooner," by William E. Barton; "A Godson of Lafayette," by Elbridge Streeter Brooks; and "With Preble at Tripoli," by James Otis. For girls they announce two volumes—"A Daughter of Freedom," by Amy E. Blanchard; also, "Reels and Spindles," a story of mill life, by Evelyn Raymond.

THE ART INTERCHANGE CO., 7 West Eighteenth Street, New York, will publish in the fall the third issue of the "American Art Annual," edited by Florence N. Levy. It will cover the season of 1899-1900 and contain reports of some 250 art societies, directories of artists, etc., lists of art sales, art books of the year, obituaries and, as the special feature, a full report of the United States section of the Department of Fine Arts at the Paris exposition. The illustrations will be of the prize pictures of the year. The edition will be limited.

IT is in these words, the significance of which must appear strange to English minds, that L'Echo de Paris makes the announcement that on the completion in its columns of Kipling's "The Finest Story in the World," it will give a translation of a well-known novel by Thomas Hardy:

> Immediatement apres la "Plus Belle Histoire Du Monde," de Rudyard Kipling, nous commencerons la publication de:
> "Tess d'Urberville"
> par
> Thomas Hardy.
> C'est l'histoire infiniment touchante, suave et tragique, d'une paysanne, issue d'une tres ancienne et tres aristocratique famille de l'Angleterre tombee peu a peau dans l'indigence et l'oublie.

AN interesting volume on noted booksellers and printers is promised. The writer is Charles Gerring, the Secretary of the Nottingham Sette of Odde Volumes, who has been assisted in his work by Samuel Clegg and Percy J. Cropper, fellow members of the club. Mr. Gerring has been engaged on this work for some time, and the notes and sketches of which the book is composed represent the labor of several years. The late Mr. Bernard Quaritch, before his death, accepted the dedication of the volume, which it is further announced will contain a number of illustrations, including portraits.

ONE of the most striking phases of modern bookselling is the unusual demand for the two or three popular historical novels. "Hugh Wynne," "Janice Meredith," "Richard Carvel," are selling steadily and are adding thousands of readers to their score. "When Knighthood was in Flower," published by The Bowen-Merrill Company, of Indianapolis, is passing the 225th thousand mark, and bids fair to reach the sale of half a million. There has been added to the latest edition of the book a fine portrait of the author, printed on India paper.

HENRY HOLT & CO. have just ready a work for teachers and learners on "The Practical Study of Languages," by Dr. Henry Sweet; "The Fortune of War," an account of the romantic adventures of "Katherine, daughter of Major-General James Patison," during the year which she spent in America during the Revolutionary War, by Elizabeth N. Barrow; "Folly Corner," a new story by Mrs. H. Dudeney, author of "The Maternity of Harriott Wicken;" "The Open Road, a little book for wayfarers," a collection of prose and poetry, compiled by E. V. Lucas; also an edition of Baumbach's "Sommermärchen," arranged for school use by Edward Meyer.

LENTILHON & CO. will publish at once a book on "Young People's Societies," by Dr. Leonard Woolsey Bacon. The volume will include the principal organizations of the kind in the American churches—with brief descriptions of their organization, and such points of their constitutions are distinctive. By the co-operation of the Rev. C. A. Northrup, of Norwich, Ct., the author has been able to add statistics, succinct information as to the headquarters, organ and general officers of the several societies, and a bibliography, giving place of publication, dates and prices of all books mentioned which are also mentioned in the "American Catalogue."

DODD, MEAD & CO. will publish shortly a volume entitled "The Siege of Ladysmith," by the late George W. Stephens, which will contain the letters he sent home from his arrival at Cape Town till the day when he was struck down by enteric fever and could write no more. At a later date a volume will be issued containing his London, Paris, and Berlin letters. A memorial edition of his works will be published towards the close of the year. The first volume will include a memoir by W. E. Henley, and a selection of the articles Mr. Steevens wrote for the National Observer, Blackwood's Magazine the New Review, etc. The "memorial edition" will contain all his best work.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING CO. will publish in March, Margaret Sidney's new historical romance, "The Judge's Cave," an interesting story of colonial days in old New Haven. They have in preparation "The Forestman of Vimpek," a story of peasant life in Bohemia, by Mme. Flora P. Kopta, of Castle Podmok, Bohemia; and "Missent: the story of a letter," a new book by "Pansy." They have arranged with T. Jenkins Hains for the future publication of his remarkably successful sea-story, "The Wind-Jammers." It is to be uniform in size, style, and price with his new romance of the sea just announced by the Lothrop Publishing Company, entitled "Mr. Trunnell: Mate of the Ship Pirate."

THE "Dictionary of Philosophy and Psychology" to be published by the Macmillans is gradually approaching completion. It will be in three large volumes, containing upwards of 2400 pages. Two volumes will constitute an encyclopædia of philosophy and psychology, with an alphabetical arrangement of topics, every article being signed. The third volume will consist of bibliographies. The work is an international and co-operative enterprise, with American, English, French, German and Italian boards of consulting editors, all under the general editorship of Professor J. Mark Baldwin, of Princeton. The work will be the most comprehensive survey of modern science in any language, and will supply definitions and equivalents which will promote clearness of thinking and facilitate the work of translators.

DOUBLEDAY & MCCLURE CO. have in preparation a series of Shakespeare's plays for theatre-goers. Each play will be edited by some well-known actor or actress who has won distinction in a Shakespearean rôle, and each will be elaborately illustrated with portraits of the editor and with pictures of the most important scenes of the play as they are presented before modern audiences. Miss Ada Rehan will write the introduction for the first volume, which will include "The Taming of the Shrew." Sir Henry Irving has promised some material for "The Merchant of Venice." Aside from their critical parts, the introductions will contain interesting reminiscences and biographical matter, which identifies the actor-editor with the play. They will shortly publish S. R. Crockett's latest romance, entitled "The Isle of Winds, a Tale of Scotland," which the author first called "Little Anna Mark."

THE PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK, Philadelphia, has just issued a little book on the Gospels, entitled "Studies in the Four Gospels," by the Rev. William G. Moorehead, of Xenia Theological Seminary. The object of the book is "to set forth the four distinctive features of the work of Jesus on earth, as portrayed by the evangelists." The book also contains an excellent analysis of each of the Gospels and is full of plain textual exposition and practical suggestions. They have in preparation a book by Rev. James R. Donehoo, which has for its subject "The New Testament View of the Old Testament." It treats of the designations of the Old Testament and the divisions in it recognized by the New Testament. The book is a particularly interesting and important addition to biblical manuals, previous treatises on this subject having been for the main part on a large scale and scholastic plan. The Rev. Dr. William Henry Greene furnishes an introduction.

THE MACMILLAN CO. announce for early publication "The Evolution of the English Novel," by Francis Honey Stoddard, of the New York University; "Politics and Administration," a study in government by Frank J. Goodnow, of Columbia University; "Colonial Civil Service," by A. Lawrence Lowell, with an account of East India College by H. Morse Stephens, of Cornell University; and "The Criminal: his personal environment," by August Drähms. A valuable work on evolution will be "Man and His Ancestor," by Charles Morris. "Home Nursing," by Miss Eveleen Harrison, will explain modern scientific methods for the sick-room. Works of natural science will be "The Nature and Work of Plants," by D. I. MacDougall; "The Principles of Vegetable Gardening," by L. H. Bailey, of Cornell University; "A Text-book of Zoölogy for High Schools," by C. B. Davenport, of the University of Chicago; and "Sexual Dimorphism in the Animal Kingdom," by J. T. Cunningham.

PICK-UPS.

THE BOWEN-MERRILL CO., publishers of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," some time ago issued a souvenir edition of that popular story in celebration of its having reached the one hundred and fifty thousand mark. Many misguided enthusiasts all over the country, ignorant of the ways of publishers, got the notion that The Bowen-Merrill Co. intended giving away this edition. The following is a verbatim copy of one of the letters received from the "misguided":

DEAR SIRS:—I see in the C—— A—— that you are sending out that delightful little story, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," as a souvenir. Will you kindly send me an edition and oblige.

Yours very truly,
(Miss) A—— M——.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

IMPORTANT NEW FICTION

Sandburrs.

When "Wolfville" was published two years ago it met with an immediate and unmistakable success. The author's style was so vigorous and so appropriate to the scenes and people treated, and his wit so fresh and original, that his work was placed at once in the front rank of books dealing with Western life.

Since then Mr. Lewis has been so occupied with his journalistic duties that his publishers have been unable to secure another book from him until now.

"Sandburrs," his new work, is a collection of Mr. Lewis's characteristic sketches that have appeared in the newspapers during the last two years. There are half a dozen "Wolfville" stories, where we meet our old friends, "Doc Peets," "Jack Enright," and others, and there is a series of "Annals of the Bend," in which we are introduced to the shades and shadows of some lower grades of New York life. There are also a number of character sketches—all marked by Mr. Lewis's peculiar humor, and depicted with his well-known literary skill.

There is a variety about these sketches that makes "Sandburrs" an unusually interesting volume.

Illustrated. Size 4¾ x 7½ inches, cloth, cover by Hapgood, $1.50.

By ALFRED HENRY LEWIS,
Author of "Wolfville."

A Master of Craft.

A new novel by this delightful humorist. The hero, Captain Flower, is the captain of a coasting vessel of the kind made famous by Mr. Jacobs in "Many Cargoes" and "More Cargoes." The Captain confesses to having a great fascination for women, and when the story opens he is engaged to three of them, and in one case under an assumed name.

His struggles to escape a breach of promise suit and other threatened calamities furnish Mr. Jacobs with a story that is well fitted to his humor.

Size 4¾ x 7½ inches, cloth, $1 50.

By W. W. JACOBS.

The Minx.

A story of English society life that is not commonplace, a story without a villain or an adventuress, but none the less one that is full of interest and holds the reader enthralled. The heroes are a ruined English aristocrat and a rich English radical, whose friendship for each other and love for the same woman—the "minx"—lead to strange complications.

Lovers of literary workmanship of the highest quality—witty, graceful, and convincing—will enjoy every page of one of the best novels of the day. Two episodes—a fox-hunt and an accident in a mine—are especially noteworthy.

Size 4¾ x 7½ inches, 335 pages, cloth, cover by Hapgood, $1.50.

By Mrs. MANNINGTON CAFFYN.

Geber

A Tale of Harun the Khalif.

Harun Al Raschid is a name familiar to every one, but little has been written of his time and period except in histories that are slightly known and almost inaccessible.

This romance of Mrs. Benton is one seriously considered and successfully carried out. It deals with the latter part of the reign of Harun and tells the story of the fall of the great Barmek family.

Geber, after whom the novel is named, and of whose great skill as a physician we have only a fragmentary knowledge, of course plays a prominent part; but the story is not so much the record of one man as it is a gorgeous and splendid history of a court that was marked by a magnificence and splendor not surpassed by the pomp of the greatest monarchs the world has known.

No more fascinating period of history could have been chosen by Mrs. Benton than the time of Harun, nor one about which so little is known and there is so much curiosity.

Size 4¾ x 7½ inches, 496 pages, cover in red, black and gold, $1.50.

By KATE A. BENTON.

Marcelle

Of the Quarter.

A charming romance with the scene laid in Paris. The chief character is a young artist, who, on the death of one of his models, gives her little daughter a father's care. As time goes on he becomes famous, and the real story begins when the child Marcelle has grown up and her protector has to consider her future. He and his companions are Bohemians, but of the best class, and Mr. Holland's pictures of their lives are exceedingly interesting and truthful.

No book of recent years describes so well the better kind of Parisian artistic life, and Mr. Holland has succeeded in making an unusual love story with touches of pathos that are masterful.

Size 4¾ x 7½ inches, cloth, cover by F. Berkeley Smith, $1.25.

By CLIVE HOLLAND,
Author of "My Japanese Wife," etc.

The Cambric Mask.

A novel by a versatile and powerful writer in an entirely new vein that is sure of a warm welcome.

This thoroughly American story is one of the present time, with a stirring plot, a love story of an unusual and interesting sort and many of the evidences of a keen and loving appreciation of nature such as were shown in Mr. Chambers' story of the Maine Woods in "The Haunts of Men"—stories that such discerning critics as "Droch" and James L. Ford look upon as showing this author at his very best.

Size 4¾ x 7½ inches, 336 pages, cloth, $1.50.

The Annual Literary Index, 1898

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc.; with Author-index, Bibliographies, Necrology, and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX complements the "Annual American Catalogue" of books, published each year by indexing (1) articles in periodicals published during the year of its issue; (2) essays and book-chapters in composite books; (3) authors of periodical articles and essays; (4) special bibliographies; (5) authors deceased; (6) dates of principal events during the year. The two volumes together make a complete record of the literary product of the year.

One volume, cloth, uniform with Poole's Index and the A. L. A. Index, $3.50, net.

"Of great value to all who would keep advised of the topics and writers in the periodical literature of the day."—Universalist Quarterly.

AUTHOR'S AUTOGRAPH EDITIONS.

EARLY last December THE H. B. CLAFLIN COMPANY began negotiations with publishers of leading books, looking to the purchase of limited autograph editions. This idea originated with The H. B. Claflin Company, who saw in it an opportunity for the dealer not only to interest his customer in the book, but to interest that customer's friends, thereby increasing sales. The titles now ready are given below, and others important strong are in preparation.

Winston Churchill,	Richard Carvel.
F. Marion Crawford,	Via Crucis.
Charles Major,	When Knighthood was in Flower.
Maude Adams,	Little Minister, Maude Adams Edition.
George Ade,	Fables in Slang.
Robert Neilson Stephens,	An Enemy to the King.
Frankfort Moore,	The Jessamy Bride.
Robert Barr,	Jennie Baxter, Journalist.
Egerton Castle,	Light of Scarthey.
George Jacobs,	Many Cargoes.
Amelia E. Barr,	Trinity Bells.

In every case these editions are the same as the present editions on the market, and the list price is unchanged. Orders must be assorted, embracing a number of each title.

Dealers can guarantee to their customers the authenticity of these signatures, referring them to publisher and author both, if necessary. Respectfully,
